Educational content

5. Methods of mastering the discipline (educational component)

Lecture classes

Lecture 1: Origins of sociological discourse: a new genealogy.

Main questions: Intellectual origins of sociology: Sieyès and Quetelet. The ideological context of the dynamics of sociological theories: the Cold War and the clash of powers. Sociological theories and political and economic practice.

Independent work of student: A New Historiography of the Origin of Sociological Discourse from the Enlightenment to the Present. Contemporary sociological theories and ideologies. The latest sociological theories: the state and public policy.

Lecture 2: Sociological theory after the Second World War, philosophy of science and prerequisites for the synthesis of classics in modern sociological theory

Main questions: Methodological principles of logical positivism and sociology. The role of philosophy of science in the discourse of contemporary sociological theories. Principles of methodology of research programs and their application in historical and sociological analysis. Problems of micro- and macro- in theoretical sociology. Centrality of classics and discourse of modern sociology. The concept of interpenetration in classical sociology and modern sociological theories.

Independent work of student: Transformations and continuity of the positivist approach in sociological theorizing. From logical positivism to postpositivism. Classical sociology and modern sociological theories.

Richard Munich as an interpreter of T. Parsons and a theorist of modernity.

Main questions: Theoretical synthesis or eclecticism: "R. Munich's theories of action". I. Kant's philosophy and theoretical sociology: from M. Weber to T. Parsons. Sociological theory of T. Parsons and its Kantian roots. Parsons' idea of continuity: theoretical breakthrough or lack of development? Conceptualization of modernity by R. Munich.

Independent work of student: T. Parsons' Kantian core of sociology and contemporary sociological theories. R. Munich: reconstruction of classical sociology as a theory building. Weberization of Parsonian sociology by R. Munich.

Lecture 3: From neofunctionalism to cultural sociology: the intellectual trajectory of J. Alexander.

Main questions: Two versions of neofunctionalism: J. Alexander and R. Munich. The concept of differentiation as the basis of J. Alexander's reconstruction of Parsonsian sociology and neo-functional research program. Neofunctionalism in the context of the dichotomy "modern versus postmodern". From T. Parsons to E. Durkheim: cultural sociology of J. Alexander.

Independent work of student: Theoretical logic in the sociology of J. Alexander as a reconstruction of classical theory. The concept of social differentiation: yesterday and today. From Parsonsian neofunctionalism to Durkheim's cultural sociology.

Weber's sociology, Weber's renaissance and modern socio-political transformations.

Main questions: Weber's sociology of religion and social transformation: post-Leninist societies in a comparative-historical perspective. "Protestant ethics" and historical reality. Richard Munch: "Neo-Parsonian" versus "Weberian". M. Weber's political sociology and political realities of the modern world-system: neopatrimonialism and leadership in global dimensions. Weber's typology of capitalisms and the future of capitalism.

Independent work of student: Religion and Economic Behavior and Development. The global revival of neopatrimonialism in the world of politics. Max Weber's sociology of capitalisms and modern socio-economic realities of modernism and world system.

Lecture 4: Marxism, critical theory and modern interpretations of Marxism.

Main questions: Variations of (neo)Marxist discourse in contemporary sociological theories. The public sphere between communicative rationality and public sociology. Marxism as a progressive research program: Burawoy's interpretation.

Independent work of student: Marxism, neo-Marxism and contemporary sociological theories. Marxist contemporary sociological theories between the public sphere and class conflict.

Historical macrosociology today: theoretical breakthroughs and syntheses.

Main questions: Contemporary sociological theories: the dimension of historical microsociology. Key figures of historical microsociology: F. Braudel, I. Wallerstein, R. Collins. G. Derluigian as a historical sociologist of post-Leninist and global transformations.

Independent work of student: Intellectual sources of contemporary historical sociological theories. Interpretation of the modern world-system from the standpoint of contemporary theories of historical sociology: capitalism and empire.

Lecture 5: Sociological theories of nationalism: B. Anderson and E. Gellner.

Main questions: The modern state as the initiator of nation building. Historical trajectories of nation formation. Marxism and nationalism.

Independent work of student: Nationalism as a cultural and ideological program of modernism. Historical sociology of empires and nations.

Sociological theories of numerous modernists.

Main questions: From the uniqueness of the Western and exemplary modernity to pluralism of multiple modernities. Intellectual origins of the research program of multiple modernities. The uniqueness of the West or a historical chance? Contemporary sociological theory between Eurocentrism and are-Orientation. S. N. Eisenstadt and sociological theorizing about multiple modernities.

Independent work of student: Eurocentric tradition in sociological theorizing. Alternatives to Eurocentrism in contemporary sociological theories: Re-Orientation and multiple modernities.

Lecture 6: Structuration Theory (A. Giddens)

Main questions: Key principles of structuration theory. The duality of structure and agency: core concepts. Structuration and social practices: the role of routine. Critiques of Giddens and applications of the theory in contemporary research.

Independent work of student: Case analysis (chosen by the student) through the lens of the duality of structure and agency. Preparation of a short essay (1–2 pages) on the significance of structuration for understanding social change.

Habitus and Field Theory (P. Bourdieu)

Main questions: Concepts of habitus, field, and capital. Mechanisms of reproduction of social inequality. Symbolic violence and legitimation of power. Applying field theory in empirical research.

Independent work of student: A micro-ethnographic assignment: identifying manifestations of symbolic capital in a real environment. Preparation of an analytical table "Types of capital and ways of their conversion."

Lecture 7: Post-Structuralism and Discourse Theory (M. Foucault, E. Laclau & Ch. Mouffe)

Main questions: The concept of discourse and power/knowledge in Foucault's work. Genealogical method and the archaeology of knowledge. Discourse hegemony (Laclau and Mouffe). The role of discourses in the formation of identities.

Independent work of student: Critical analysis of a media discourse fragment using Foucault's concept of power. Preparation of a diagram with key discursive nodal points of a selected social issue.

Network Theories and Social Capital (B. Wellman, M. Granovetter)

Main questions: Basics of social network analysis: nodes, ties, density. The "strength of weak ties" concept. Networked individualism and changing models of social integration. Social capital: measurement, functions, critique.

Independent work of student: Construction and visualization of the student's own ego-network (15–20 ties). Short report on the role of weak ties in one's personal communication experience.

Lecture 8: Neo-Marxist and Critical Theories (F. Jameson, D. Harvey, A. Honneth)

Main questions: Neo-Marxist analysis of late capitalism. Space, capital, and urbanization in Harvey's work. Recognition theory (Honneth). The relevance of Critical Theory today.

Independent work of student: Writing a review of a recent critical article on capitalism. Comparative analysis of Harvey's and Honneth's approaches to social justice

Actor-Network Theory (B. Latour) and New Materialisms

Main questions: Fundamentals of Actor-Network Theory: actants, assemblages, networks. Symmetry between humans and nonhumans. New materialisms and the agency of things. Applying ANT in science and technology studies.

Independent work of student: Analysis of a chosen technological object as an "actant" within a network. Preparation of a mini-project: an actor-network map of an everyday process (e.g., online shopping or a transportation route).

Seminar classes

Seminar session 1: Classical Foundations Revisited: From Structural Functionalism to Conflict Theory

Seminar session 2: Symbolic Interactionism and the Construction of Social Reality

Seminar session 3: Phenomenology and Ethnomethodology: The Micro-Production of Social Order

Seminar session 13: New Materialisms and Posthumanist Sociology

Seminar session 14: Intersectionality and Contemporary Feminist Theory. Contemporary Debates: Globalization, Digitalization, and the Future of Sociological Theory

Seminar session 15: Modular control work

6. Independent work of student

The student's independent work includes:

preparation for classroom lessons – 70 hours;

preparation for module tests – 4 hours;

preparation for the exam – 30 hours.

Total – 104 hours.

Policy and control

7. Course policy (educational component)

Class attendance

Attendance of lectures and seminars is mandatory.

Evaluation control measures missed

The missed modular test can be rewritten, but until the time of the intermediate certification, taking into account the time required by the instructor to test the work. Missed express quizzes can't be retaken.

Procedure for appealing the results of tests

Students have the opportunity to raise any issue related to the control procedure and expect it to be addressed according to the university procedures. To appeal against the grade, the student must submit a statement stating the reason for the appeal, the facts of the instructor's bias. The instructor should discuss this statement with the student in person at the consultation. In case if the dispute is not resolved of lack of understanding on the result of the control measure, a commission made up of the department is formed, which evaluates the procedure of the control measure and the student's claim. The Commission may decide to re-examine or reject the appeal. The decision of the commission is final and not subject to appeal.

University policy

Academic integrity

The policy and principles of academic integrity are defined in Section 3 of the Code of Honor of the National Technical University of Ukraine "Igor Sikorsky Kyiv Polytechnic Institute". Details: <https://kpi.ua/code>.

Norms of Ethical Conduct

The norms of ethical conduct of students and employees are defined in Section 2 of the Code of Honor of the National Technical University of Ukraine "Igor Sikorsky Kyiv Polytechnic Institute". More information: <https://kpi.ua/code>.

Policy on the use of artificial intelligence

The policy on the use of artificial intelligence and its principles are regulated by the order "Policy on the use of artificial intelligence for academic activities at Igor Sikorsky Kyiv Polytechnic Institute". More information: <https://osvita.kpi.ua/node/1225>.

8. Types of control and rating system for evaluation of learning outcomes (RSE)

The student's grade in the discipline consists of the points he receives for the following types of work:

1. answers in seminars;
2. writing a modular control work (MCW);
3. exam.

1. Answers in seminars. Weight score - 5 points for a correct answer (addition to the answer) to one question. The maximum number of points for activity in seminars is equal to $G_{\text{sem}} = 5 \text{ points} * 5 \text{ answers} = 25 \text{ points}$

When answering each question, the student receives:

- "excellent", a complete answer (at least 90% of the required information, if the student demonstrates a deep knowledge of the material in the answer, logically and consistently presents it, gives reasonable conclusions, freely operates with specific data, easily and convincingly answers the questions posed; active participation in the lesson - 5 points;
- "very good" and "good", a sufficiently complete answer (at least 75% of the required information), or a complete answer with minor inaccuracies, answers most of the questions posed - 4 points;
- "satisfactory" and "enough", an incomplete answer (at least 60% of the required information) and significant errors, answers the questions posed weakly, or does not answer at all, additions to the answers of other students - 3 points.
- "unsatisfactory", no work in the seminar, the student was not ready to answer the questions posed - 0-2 points.

2. Modular control work. Weight score - 25.

Evaluation criteria:

- "excellent", a complete answer (at least 90% of the required information) to all questions of the modular control work; the student is fluent in the presented material - 23-25 points;
- "good", the student provided answers to 75% of the questions of the modular control work; answers to all control questions need clarification - 19-22 points;
- "satisfactory", the student provided answers to 60% of the questions of the modular control work; the answers require significant clarification, insufficient knowledge of the material - 15-18 points;
- "unsatisfactory", the answer does not meet the requirements for 5 points, the student is not oriented in the material, an extremely limited answer - 0-14 points.

3. Exam. Weight score – 50.

The exam involves oral answers to questions, the list of which is given in Appendix 2.

Evaluation criteria:

- 40-50 points – the student answers almost all exam questions, demonstrates deep knowledge of the material, presents it logically and consistently, makes well-founded conclusions, freely operates with specific data, expresses his own position on debatable issues, demonstrates signs of theoretical thinking and sociological imagination;

- 30-39 points – the student answers most exam questions, demonstrates a good level of knowledge of the material;
- 20-29 points – the student answers approximately half of the exam questions, demonstrates rather superficial knowledge;
- 0-19 points – the student answers only some exam questions, does not have his own position, allows significant inaccuracies.

Incentive points (no more than 10 points for all types of work):

- for research activities (participation in conferences, "Science Days of the Faculty of Sociology and Law", student work competitions, publications);
- participation in faculty Olympiads in the discipline and all-Ukrainian Olympiads.

Conditions for a positive intermediate certification:

To receive a "pass" from the first intermediate certification, the student must have at least 12 points, to receive a "pass" from the second intermediate certification, the student must have at least 24 points.

Conditions for admission to the exam:

The condition for a student to be admitted to the exam is to receive a preliminary rating score of at least 24 points.

Table of correspondence of rating points to grades on the university scale:

Student rating (points)	University scale of assessments of the level of acquired competencies (learning outcomes)
100-95	Excellent
94-85	Very good
84-75	Fine
74-65	Satisfactorily
64-60	Enough
Less than 60	Not allowed

Possible marks in the semester control report:

Not allowed	Failure to meet the admission requirements for semester examination
Removed	Violation of the principles of academic integrity or moral and ethical norms of behavior
Did not appear	A candidate was admitted but did not appear for the exam

Review of the rating assessment system during the semester

The review of the rating assessment system may be carried out upon a motivated application by the applicant studying the educational component, the student government body or the student trade union committee, submitted to the head of the providing department. The review procedure is defined in Section 7 of the Regulations on the system of assessment of learning outcomes at Igor Sikorsky Kyiv Polytechnic Institute https://osvita.kpi.ua/sites/default/files/downloads/Pologennia_RSO_2025.pdf

9. Additional information on the discipline (educational component)

Classes within the course "Contemporary Sociological Theories" are conducted in the form of lectures and seminars. During lectures, the lecturer formulates the background assumptions of theories, formulates key concepts, comes up with examples. Lectures take the form of a dialogue, when the instructor asks students questions about the teaching material, may ask to give an immediate answer to the current topic being discussed in the class, or the material of previous classes.

The student's independent work is designed to prepare questions for seminars, analysis of sources. The instructor makes suggestions as to what relevant literature to discuss. The main form of activity during seminars is an oral report that aims at developing the communicative abilities of the student combined with the demonstration and consolidation of the knowledge of the topic. The instructor evaluates both the depth, breadth, accuracy of definitions during the student's speech, the ability to respond to questions from the audience. During the seminar, students' activity in formulating questions, participating in discussions, formulating alternative hypotheses, the ability to refer to theoretical positions and critically evaluate existing theories and practices is additionally assessed.

Informal Education

At the student's request, in circumstances that do not promote regular attendance, the study of certain substantive parts of the educational component in asynchronous mode is allowed, in particular, through the mastery of distance courses. To take into account the points for mastering such courses in the evaluation system, they must correspond to the content of the syllabus, be agreed with the teacher, and to confirm the completion of the courses, the student must provide an appropriate document indicating the name and scope in hours. Recognition of the results of informal education takes place in the manner determined in the relevant Regulation of KPI named after Igor Sikorsky <https://osvita.kpi.ua/node/179>.

Distance learning

Synchronous distance learning is possible using video conferencing platforms and the Sikorsky educational platform for distance learning at the university.
